The Revista Finanzas y Política Económica - Journal of Economics - is the official publication of the Faculty of Economics of the Catholic University of Colombia. Since 2007 until today, the journal has created a research and scientific space where the issues related to economic policies, finance and other topics linked to economics in the Colombian, Latin American, and global context, are analyzed and discussed by top-level researchers.

Call for Authors

From the 2008 economic crisis until the appearance of the Sars COV -2 the global economy has been collapsing and increasing the development gap among the developed and developing countries. Inequality, poverty, and underdevelopment are still realities in some regions and countries of the globe. To respond such situations rethinking the role of the State and the the economic policy, it is necessary to innovative and promote researching on topics such as fiscal policy, monetary policy and exchange rate policy, the new fiscal governance, financial intermediation and capital markets, the relationship between law and finance, the integration of regional and global financial markets, the external imbalances, external balance, the crisis impact on the banking sector, the corporate financial policy, behavioral economics and the impacts of the Covid 19 on the economy in the local, regional and global level.

The focus of the Revista Finanzas y Política Económica is precisely focused on finance and economic policy and its multidisciplinary relations. For this reason, the editorial board is soliciting high-quality submissions related to these subjects. The editorial board is committed to a review process that is both constructive and feedback. The Revista Finanzas y Política Económica publishes high-quality original manuscripts. Areas of interest include, but not limited to asset pricing, capital and security markets, governance, information and security markets, corporate financial policy, and financial econometrics. The journal makes extra efforts toward maintaining a balance between theoretical and empirical work and aims to provide prompt and constructive reviews to author(s).
